BEST PRACTICE WHEN USING LONG ACTING ANTHELMINTICS

• REFUGIA

IMPORTANT - Don't use long acting drench products in all your stock. Minimise drenching in a proportion of your ewe's to act as a source of refugia.

• WILL IT IMPROVE PRODUCTIVITY?

Don't use any drench product unless you expect a significant production advantage.

• TRIPLE COMBINATION

Be sure to use triple combination drenches in the lambs to avoid them "multiplying up" resistant worms.

• DRENCH CHECK

Check if capsules or long acting injections are performing by doing egg counts 60-80 days post insertion/injection.

Check if Eweguard or Cydectin injections are performing by doing egg counts around 30 days post injection.

• SEEK ADVICE

Seek sound veterinary advice and keep monitoring results.

Do the same drench ingredients always give the same result?

NO! According to NZ research published in the international journal "Veterinary Parasitology"

Cattle were tested for faecal egg reduction on six different farms comparing different drench treatments.

- Eclipse was the significantly superior pour on achieving average egg reduction of 98% in a tight range, the lowest result being 93%.
- The other pour on brand gave an average egg reduction of 85% with a wide range of performance, some results being as low as 40% egg reduction.
- Trial by Leathwick et al, Veterinary Parasitology, 2016

The Veterinary Centre stocks proven animal health products that we know will perform. We will always be competitive but never at the expense of quality or productivity.
